EXCLUSIVE!

By 'eck! It's Lucy Meck!

TOWIE's Lucy in bikini in Marbella!

➔ AMONG THE fake boobs, fake teeth and fake bums of TOWIE, one au naturel lady stands out like a svelte thumb in a box of balloons. It's Lucy Mecklenburgh! Here she is in Marbella, which gives us a chance to get her views on everything from her body to angry sex!

Lucy on fame!

"I don't think any of us expected it going on to the show. I think it hit me when I had my first night out after I'd been on two shows. People were coming up to me and wanting pictures and I was like, 'Why would they want a picture of me?'"

Lucy on sex!

"Angry make-up sex is the best. Because you sort of still hate them but, actually, sometimes I start an argument just for that! Sex is very important. I think if it stops, you've got issues."

LUCY'S TELLY HIT!

Boutique owner Lucy has been an ever-present on TOWIE since the show began in 2010.

TELLY STUNNER!

"Urgh! A scary sea creature! No, hang on – it's a flip-flop"

"Hey! Who stole my cocktail!"

"It's a wonder these things don't get all rusty!"

HOL HOTTIE!

"I specifically asked for an Alpine strawberry!"

Lucy on her body!

"Generally, I'm happy with how I look. My favourite part is my waist, as it's 24 inches."

Lucy on plastic surgery!

"I can see why some girls do it, but I'd never mess with my face or anything like that."

Lucy on her boobs!

"I like my boobs – they're just the right size for my body!"

Lucy on TOWIE!

"Eighty per cent's real and 20 per cent's fiction. It's got to be a bit extreme otherwise people wouldn't watch it."

Lucy on keeping fit!

"I keep to the basics. I don't work out a lot. I take the dog out for walks and jogs, but I don't do anything drastic."

Lucy on fan requests!

"I've had to sign a guy's bum before. That was definitely the weirdest thing I've done!"

Lucy on being naughty!

"I danced naked on the windowsill of a hotel room, but I was very drunk!"

Lucy on a man's clothes!

"I don't think you need a full-on suit, but definitely a nice ironed polo and some jeans."

"My favourite part of my body is my waist!"

Lucy

"I expected a shallow end, but this is a bit silly!"

Fergie retirement spam and gags!

Blowing the funny whistle on Fergie's epic career!

➔ LOVE OR loathe the whisky-nosed Scot, it was a sad day for football last week when possibly the finest manager to ever haunt a touchline, Sir Alex Ferguson, retired from management. But with tragedy often comes humour. Or it does in our silly corner of the world. So here are some gags and spam to wave him off, in a silly jig around the technical area.

FAREWELL, FERGIE!

Fergie also managed East Stirlingshire, St Mirren, Aberdeen and – for ten games – Scotland.

"In tribute to Fergie's relationship with referees, Man United fans plan to hold a round of applause in the 97th minute of the next match!"

"Fergie's retirement gift is a gold watch. With six extra minutes on it!"

"In his retirement speech, Sir Alex Ferguson praised the men who helped contribute to his success at Manchester United. The Referees' Association were said to be touched by the tribute!"

Angry buffalo sees off lion in South African park tussle!

➔ TO BE honest, we're more than a little surprised this doesn't happen more often. Lions may be 250kg of tooth, claw and attitude, but African buffalo consist of up to a tonne of muscular hoof and horn and we wouldn't want to mess with them. From inside a Land Rover.

Anyhoo, the silly lion tried to put buffalo on his menu last week in the Kruger National Park, South Africa and got short shrift, ending in an embarrassing retreat as fast as his furry little legs could carry him.

So that's buffalos 2, lions 0 (we're including Mufasa from The Lion King).

African buffalo facts!

- Fully grown African buffalo can hit 910kg of muscle and up to 3.4 metres in length.
- Male buffalo horns grow so large the distance between the tips can hit one metre. The horns have a fused base called the "boss" which is strong enough to withstand a rifle bullet.
- More big game hunters have been killed by African buffalo than by any other African animal, with wounded animals known to stalk and attack the hunter.
- Known as the "the Black Death" or "widowmaker", the African buffalo gores and kills over 200 people every year.

Anchorman 2's battle scene!

Sweet Lincoln's mullet! Our exclusive, behind-the-scenes shots show it gets out of hand fast!

➔ IT'S A gold mine of delight and silliness, but the standout scene of classic Will Ferrell funny flick Anchorman is the mass brawl between rival news channels, ending in weapon-toting armageddon and Brick stabbing a man in the heart with a trident.

So, as you'd expect, the hotly anticipated sequel, Anchorman: The Legend Continues boasts a similar OTT scrap and, as our exclusive behind-the-scenes pics show, it features a stellar crew of guest stars.

It'll be in cinemas next year. And great Odin's raven, it's going to be good!

SEXY TAKEDOWN!

Sacha Baron Cohen lays the smackdown on SNL's Amy Poehler, while 30 Rock's Tina Fey tries to help her chum.

RON BURGUNDY RETURNS!

And the San Diego KVVN-TV Channel 4 Evening News legend has come packing a samurai sword!

JIM CARREY'S IN IT!

We're not sure if Carrey has a big role, we reckon he's just one of the superstars who guest in the epic news battle.

BRICK GETS TOOLED UP!

Brick (Steve Carell) and Brian Fantana (Paul Rudd) prepare for the scrap. Brick appears to have a silenced, futuristic rifle.

PLUS! LIAM NEESON!

A sword-wielding, three-piece-suited Neeson leads one of the news crews. One with a particular set of skills!

THE HEAT OF BATTLE!

Medieval weapons come to the fore as hundreds of extras and stars pile in for filming. It really does jump up a notch!

THE GUN SHOW!

IT'S GOT A MINOTAUR!

We expect a fight in Anchorman to escalate, but the sequel's fight definitely includes mythical beasts.

Sam Fisher's back! Nuts pokes him!

WHAT WOULD happen if all the USA's enemies joined up like a terrorist Barcelona and launched a series of attacks on Yank soil? That's the pitch for Splinter Cell: Blacklist, which sees the return of the hardest secret agent in gaming – Sam Fisher. And while there's much sneaking to be done, this time the title also has a direct, shoot-them-all-in-the-face approach. Nuts went hands-on with the game, out on 23 August...

ONLINE MATCH-UPS!

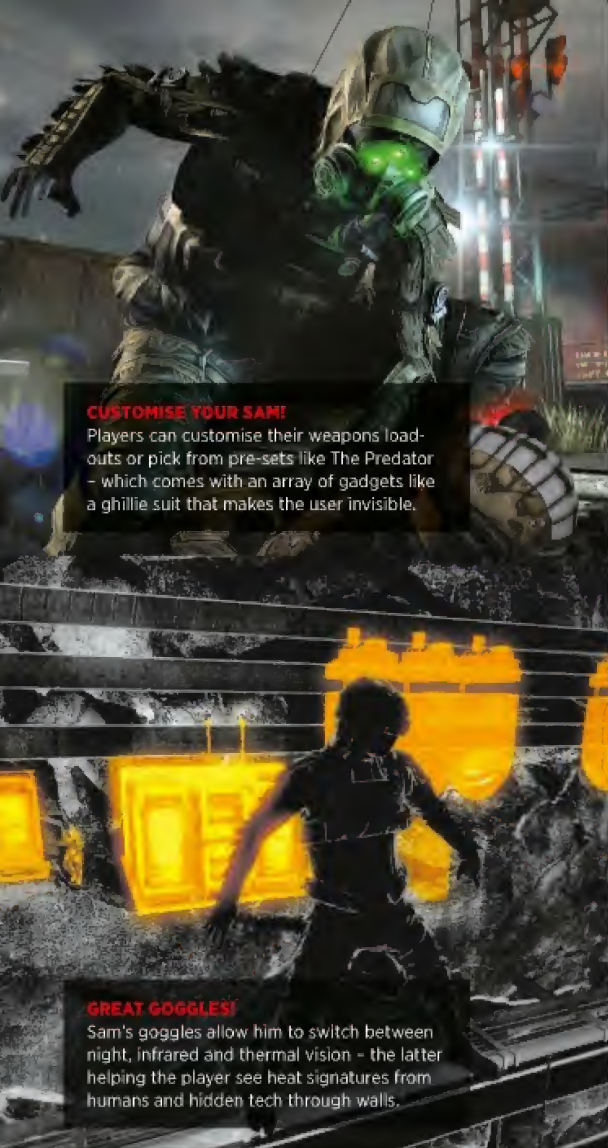

In online mode, you pick between playing stealthy Agents who have to hack computer terminals or these heavily armed Mercenaries who hunt down and kill the Agents.

MULTIPLAYER SCRAPS!

Multiplayer battles are split between four-on-four and two-on-two. Here, players need to watch each other's backs if they're to stand any chance of winning/not dying.

WHAT THE HELL'S THE "BLACKLIST"?

The story focuses on Fisher and his team as they try to hunt down a group of terrorists called The Engineers before their "Blacklist" of multiple terrorist attacks goes into effect.

CUSTOMISE YOUR SAM!

Players can customise their weapons load-outs or pick from pre-sets like The Predator - which comes with an array of gadgets like a ghillie suit that makes the user invisible.

GREAT GOGGLES!

Sam's goggles allow him to switch between night, infrared and thermal vision - the latter helping the player see heat signatures from humans and hidden tech through walls.

TOYS OF WAR!

Players have tons of gadgets, including 'copter drones they can pilot remotely. These are a great way to scout out the terrain ahead and shoot down enemies.

203mph, £270k Dutch superstar!

The Vencer Sarthe – sounds like a Star Wars character, looks like a beautiful doorstop!

- If you've never heard the name Vencer before, that's because it's a very small, and very new (it was only established in 2010) supercar boutique that hails from the flatlands of the Netherlands. And the unveiling of the Sarthe – their first model – took place in Monaco last week.
- The two-seater Sarthe – named after the Circuit de la Sarthe, where the Le Mans 24 hour race is held – features a body design inspired by '80s Le Mans race cars. The short nose and long windscreen hint to this, but the back end is ironing board flat, similar to the car it borrows its engine from.

- Like so many of these cottage supercar creators, the major parts come from bigger, more familiar manufacturers. Take the mid-mounted 6.2-litre V8 engine, for example – that's been borrowed from

IMAGE: JONAS SMITH

Car had one lame tyre

The Monaco milkman started another round the great American sledgehammer that is the Chevy Corvette Z06.

- The Sarthe wears carbon fibre body panels over a hybrid space frame chassis made of high-grade tubular steel. A traditional six-speed manual gearbox helps power the Sarthe to its top speed of 203mph, while it'll break the magic 0 to 62mph sprint in just 3.8 seconds, putting the Sarthe chin to chin with the gullwinged Merc SLS.

- Lead project engineer Luuk Potze wanted to keep the recipe simple, which explains the Sarthe's lack of poncey features like paddleshift gearboxes, and few luxuries beyond ABS and ESP electronic aids. With a 45:55 weight distribution and rear-wheel drive, this is being sold as a dedicated drivers' car.

- "We want to make a niche, low-volume car. It's a very good drivers' car. It has to keep up with its rivals, of course, but we aren't interested in breaking Nürburgring lap records," says Potze.

- This doesn't mean a Spartan interior, though – it gets leather sports seats, climate control and an elegant dashboard with LCD display.
- Keeping the Sarthe lean and uncluttered means its kerb weight comes in at 1,390kg, similar to a 1.8 Honda Civic. At 4.5 metres long, it's 2.4cm longer than a Porsche 911 and 17.6cm broader.

- With a pricetag expected to be in the region of £270k, the bulk of customers for these exclusive small-production supercars are thought to be in Russia and the Middle East. Talking of small production, no more than 15 Sarthes per year are planned. In the meantime, Vencer are already planning another model. Watch this space.

A girl I've been getting intimate with keeps hinting that she wants to know how many girls I've been with. I don't know whether to be honest with her. I think I've slept with a lot, but does that make me look sleazy? Should I lie to her?

BEN Sheffield
She's not going to believe you either way. Take control. Ask her what the benefit of knowing such a private detail would be. If she really wants to know, she'll have to make a decision from the quality of sex you deliver to her.

LETTER OF THE WEEK!

I can't be friends with ex!

I can't seem to form friendships with any of my former girlfriends - even ones from years ago. I always just get really sad about being around them. My mate said it was weird to feel that way. Is it?

BEN via email

Perhaps your mate hasn't emotionally connected to his exes the way you have. Many people feel the same way you do and it's healthy to stay away from bad energy. There's no need to rush things. Go and bury your head between some new breasts and find your happy place!

Is it weird to suggest doing it with my missus in the local pool? Will she think I'm odd?

ANON via email

If you want to fulfil the fantasy I'd put a little more "oomph" into the idea and book a long weekend somewhere nice and hot. The location makes all the difference between awkward heavy petting and sensual love-making.

I fancy older work lady!

I'm attracted to an older married woman at work. If I tried it on with her, will she be flattered by the attention? I'm not a bad-looking bloke.

CHRIS Cardiff

You Cardiff boys are cheeky chaps! So are the girls, in my experience. Ease down on the arrogance and perhaps you can charm your way to the top. Be warned, her husband might be bigger, more muscular and richer than you. But married women need a good excuse to get out and find their fire again. You could be her hero!

FRED AND Fiona are making passionate love in Fred's van when Fiona yells out, "Whip me!"

Fred doesn't have a whip so he opens the window, snaps the antenna off his van and whips Fiona until they both collapse in ecstasy.

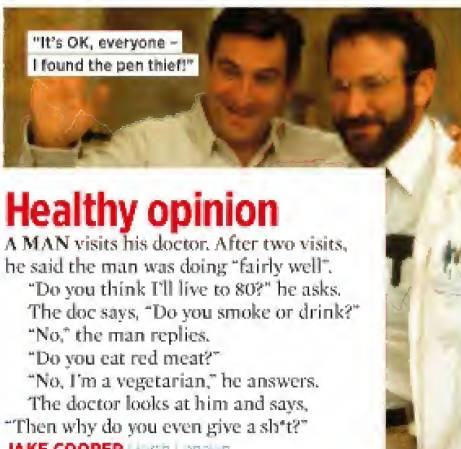

About a week later, Fiona notices that the marks aren't healing, so she goes to the doctor.

The doctor takes one look at the wounds and asks: "Did you get these marks having sex?"

NUTS PROMOTION

10 REASONS WHY FAST & FURIOUS 6 IS THE BEST FAST & FURIOUS FILM EVER!

It's the blockbuster event of the year – and it's almost here!

1 LETTY RETURNS!

We thought Michelle Rodriguez's character Letty was dead at the end of Fast & Furious 4. But she popped up right at the end of Fast & Furious 5, having joined a mercenary organisation. And only Dorn and the gang can stop her.

2 IT'S SET IN THE UK!

Well, some of it is. There are car chases over London's Lambeth Bridge and round Piccadilly Circus, through Liverpool and Glasgow city centres, and the gang even race around the Top Gear Test Track at RAF Bentwaters in Suffolk!

3 THE MOTORS ARE MORE MENTAL THAN EVER!

As well as the usual showroom of supercars, there's a tank. Yes. A tank! Fast & Furious 6 also unveils the world's first Flip Car, so called as it has a special pointy nose that can ram into the car in front and flip it upside down. Nice.

4 IT'S GOT GREAT PUNCH-UPS!

If you thought the previous Fast & Furious films had a lot of fisticuffs, that's nothing compared to Fast & Furious 6, where at one point there are seven fights going on, including one of the best girl-on-girl bouts we've ever seen!

IT FEATURES AN MMA LEGEND!

The reason the girl-on-girl punch-up is so good is 'cos the producers hired Gina Carano to play The Rock's law enforcing side-kick, Riley! Gina was the first woman to headline a major MMA event! And she won it by TKO in round one!

IT'S GOT RITA ORA IN IT!

Originally Rihanna was up for a part in Fast & Furious 6, but instead we've got our very own Rita Ora. "They asked, 'Would you mind being the leader of the pack in London?'" she says. I was like, "I'd love to!". Go get 'em, Rita!

IT'S NOT JUST FOR CAR BUYS!

This is the first Fast & Furious film not to feature the underground street-racing scene. Instead it's more of a heist movie with car chases, with writer Chris Morgan citing The Italian Job and The French Connection as influences!

8

THE STUNTS ARE MORE STAGGERING THAN EVER!

One stand-out stunt sees Vin Diesel's car smash through the nose of a flaming cargo aeroplane! Director Justin Lin first dreamed this lunacy up while producing Fast And Furious in 2009, but couldn't fit it into that film's story.

THERE'S A LOT OF CAR-WAGE!

The film features a tank that tears up a motorway, wrecking everything in its path. Initially the filmmakers were going to use CGI to achieve this, but binned the idea in favour of crushing real cars - approximately 250 of them!

THERE'S GOING TO BE MORE!

Vin Diesel says he views the six Fast & Furious films as two trilogies, and reveals that Fast & Furious 7 is already under way! "In 7, you'll see a coming home of sorts," he says. "It'll be a kick-off to the next trilogy, done right."

FAST & FURIOUS 6 IS IN CINEMAS NATIONWIDE FROM 17 MAY

Danielle Sharp!

Gents, say hello

DANIELLE SHARP

“I can’t wait to get into a bikini!”

Hi Danielle! How are you today? I'm fantastic, thanks. I can't say I've been partying much recently – I'm actually coming to the end of my uni course, so I've been really busy with that. I've become dead boring!

Nonsense! Remind us, what are you studying?

I study fashion and brand management, although there's not much use for clothing today. I can't wait until I finish my degree. I'm going to go out and get proper drunk!

Didn't you once confess to us to being a bit of a lightweight?

Yes, I think it's because I drink pints. There have been times when I don't even make it out because I've had too much.

So we've heard a rumour that summer is coming...

It's great, isn't it? It's been dead nice on today's shoot.

Do your boobs get an extra outing when it's sunny?

I wouldn't really have them out – they tend to get in the way. They're best kept under wraps.

We reckon that the sun makes ladies 90 per cent friskier!

We'll have to see! Being out in the sun is all well and good, but I also like cuddling up with someone somewhere private, if you know what I mean.

We hear you. What's your sexiest summer outfit?

It's my new polka dot bikini. I can't wait to get it out and give it a good run. It's pretty cheeky.

Describe your perfect date.

Maybe take me to a nice Chinese restaurant and out to a good bar, and then end up who knows where!

Nice one. Thanks for the chinwag, Danielle. Finally, do you have any weird celebrity crushes?

Not weird, but I like Mila Kunis. She's amazing!

A is for... Aliens. The armoured assault vehicle Ripley uses to escape from the alien nest early in the film was actually a modified Heathrow tow truck the producers bought from British Airways.

and... Action Man. The original script for 2009's G.I. Joe: The Rise Of Cobra, starring Channing Tatum, featured an appearance by the UK's Action Man, but a rewrite eventually saw the role cut. Boo!

B is for... blood. While filming Reservoir Dogs, Tim Roth (Mr Orange) spent so long laying in a pool of fake blood for the warehouse scene that he kept sticking to the floor as it dried out.

and... Black Hawk Down. Some of the images on the monitors in the operations room during the movie are actual satellite images taken from the bloody battle in Mogadishu, Somalia, on which the film is based.

G is for... cars. Mel Gibson's yellow interceptor in Mad Max – a Ford Falcon XB – was a real-life police car the film's makers borrowed from the Australian state of Victoria's police department.

and... Conan The Barbarian. In the 2011 remake, Ron Perlman plays Conan's father. Perlman had previously voiced Conan in animated movie Conan: Red Nails.

D is for... déjà vu. The coffee shop scene with Denzel Washington and Ethan Hawke at the start of Training Day is filmed at the Quality Café. The famous LA eatery also features in scenes in Se7en, Gone In Sixty Seconds and Catch Me If You Can.

and... The Dark Knight Rises. The film is the longest of Christopher Nolan's Batman series at 164 minutes.

E is for... The Expendables. Sylvester Stallone suffered a hairline fracture in his neck shooting a fight scene with Steve "Stone Cold" Austin and had a metal plate inserted to repair the damage.

and... Escape From New York. The model city set used for John Carpenter's 1981 classic reappeared in cinemas a year later after it was repainted and reused in Ridley Scott's Blade Runner.

F is for... Fast Five. Over 200 cars were trashed filming the fifth instalment of the franchise.

and... family. In Reservoir Dogs, Mr Blonde's (Michael Madsen) real name is Vic Vega. According to Quentin Tarantino, he's the older brother of Vincent Vega (John Travolta) in Pulp Fiction.

G is for... Gladiator. It cost more than £2m to insert the CGI scenes that were needed following Oliver Reed's death during filming.

and... guns. In Shoot 'Em Up, Clive Owen describes his Walther PPK – James Bond's weapon of choice – as a "piece of sh*t" after it jams on him. This is an in-joke, referring to the fact Daniel Craig beat Owen to the role of 007 in Casino Royale a year earlier.

H is for... Heat. Former SAS soldier and Bravo Two Zero author Andy McNab worked as a tactical weapons consultant and firearms trainer on the film and also makes a brief cameo as an LA policeman.

and... horses. Many of the horses that are hurt in the battle scenes in Mel Gibson's Braveheart were actually fake foam horses mounted on tracks.

I is for... Iron Man. An early draft of the 2008 blockbuster revealed that Tony Stark was the inventor of the metal tentacles used by Dr Octavius in 2004 film Spider-Man 2.

and... Inglourious Basterds. In the scene where Colonel Landa (Christoph Waltz) strangles Bridget von Hammersmark (Diane Kruger), the hands you see around her neck actually belong to Quentin Tarantino.

J is for... Judge Dredd. In the 2012 reboot, Dredd, Karl Urban based Dredd's voice on Clint Eastwood. In the comics, Dredd lived in Rowdy Yates Block – Rowdy Yates was the name of Eastwood's character in Rawhide.

and... Jack Reacher. The film is based on Lee Child's book, One Shot. Child makes a brief cameo as the policeman who gives Reacher his personal belongings back when he is released from jail.

K is for... Kill Bill. The samurai swords used by the Crazy 88 gang in Kill Bill: Vol. 1 are the same ones carried by Miho in Sin City.

and... Killer Elite. It's based on the book The Feather Men, written by explorer Sir Ranulph Fiennes, who originally claimed the story about the secret assassination of ex-SAS soldiers was true. It's not.

L is for... Layer Cake. In the nightclub scene, Tiptoes (Steve John Shepherd) is pretending to be the Earl of Oxford to impress the American girls. Director Matthew Vaughn is a real life descendant of the third Earl of Oxford.

and... The Lord Of The Rings: The Return Of The King. Peter Jackson's final epic in the series boasts the highest death toll of any film, with 836 fatalities.

M is for... The Matrix. Nicolas Cage was originally offered the Neo role played by Keanu Reeves, but turned it down because he didn't want to relocate his family to Australia for filming.

and... Millennium Falcon. In Paul Verhoeven's 1997 film Starship Troopers, a miniature Millennium Falcon can clearly be seen clinging to the fuselage of one of the Federation spaceships.

N is for... No Country For Old Men. The tagline "There are no clean getaways" is the same as the one used for Drive.

and... Nero. In a storyline cut from the final version of the Star Trek reboot, Nero (Eric Bana) and his crew are held captive by the Klingons on the prison planet of Rura Penthe, the same planet Kirk and McCoy are sent to in Star Trek VI: The Undiscovered Country.

O is for... Oblivion. During filming, Tom Cruise celebrated his 50th birthday and was given one of the film's futuristic motorbikes as a present by director Joseph Kosinski.

and... Outlander. The Viking and aliens actioner was one of the biggest flops of 2008, losing £27.5million.

P is for... panic. Trailers for Independence Day on Spanish TV, showing the alien ships hovering over New York, were mistaken for real footage and sparked a flood of calls to the emergency services.

and... pilots. The two F-22 fighter pilots in Iron Man are codenamed Whiplash 1 and 2. In Iron Man 2, villain Ivan Vanko (Mickey Rourke) is nicknamed Whiplash.

Q is for... Quantum Of Solace. More than 200,000 rounds of blank ammunition were used in training for and the filming of the 2008 Bond blockbuster.

and... quotes. In The Rock, when Stanley Goodspeed (Nicolas Cage) introduces himself to Mason (Sean Connery), Mason replies, "But of course you are." It's exactly the same line Connery uses as James Bond in Diamonds Are Forever when he meets Plenty O'Toole.

R is for... Ronin. Porn legend Ron Jeremy flew to Paris to film a small role in the Robert de Niro classic, but his cameo was cut.

and... Raiders Of The Lost Ark. In the Steven Spielberg classic, British wrestler Pat Roach is killed twice. He first plays the giant Sherpa who dies in the fight in the Nepalese bar and then reappears as the German mechanic who has a nasty accident with the aeroplane propeller.

S is for... The Sweeney. Ray Winstone plays Jack Regan in the film – 36 years after appearing as an extra in the original TV series.

and... Star Trek Into Darkness. Peter "RoboCop" Weller plays Admiral Marcus in JJ Abrams' second Star Trek movie. It's actually his second Trek outing, though – he guested in two episodes of the Star Trek: Enterprise series back in 2005.

T is for... taglines. The original tagline for RoboCop was, "He's like Dirty Harry with ball bearings." It was dropped because the producers were scared of being sued by Clint Eastwood.

and... The Transporter. The original trailer for the film showed Frank Martin (Jason Statham) deflecting a missile with a metal tea tray. It was cut after Statham insisted the scene was too far-fetched.

U is for... Under Siege. In the Steven Seagal film, Erika Eleniak plays Jordan Tate, aka Miss July 1989. She was the July 1989 Playboy Playmate of the Month.

and... US Army. The elite US Army Rangers were so impressed with Tom Hanks' portrayal of Captain John Miller in Saving Private Ryan that the elite infantry division inducted him into their Hall of Fame.

V is for... Van Damme. Belgian hardman Jean-Claude was originally cast as the alien in the Arnold Schwarzenegger classic Predator but the "Muscles from Brussels" quit after just two days.

and... Volvo. In The Rock, Face/Off and Con Air, Nicolas Cage's character either drives a Volvo, steals a Volvo or drops a body from a plane onto a Volvo.

W is for... Walther P99. In Lara Croft: Tomb Raider, Daniel Craig's character carries a Walter P99 – the same gun he uses five years later in Casino Royale.

and... Woo-ping Yuen. The Chinese martial-arts man choreographed the fight sequences in Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon and The Matrix trilogy.

X is for... X-Men Origins: Wolverine. A bootleg copy of the 2009 film was leaked online, and by the time it was officially released in cinemas weeks later, it had already been illegally downloaded 4.5 million times.

and... xxX: The Next Level. In the scene when the Nation Security agent is reviewing Ice Cube's profile, one of the pics is of the rapper in his days with NWA.

Y is for... yellow Range Rover. In Kick-Ass, Big Daddy kills Cody (Dexter Fletcher) inside a yellow Range Rover. Six years earlier in Layer Cake, Cody (Fletcher again) drove a yellow Range Rover.

and... Yippee-ki-yay, motherfker! Bruce Willis uses the catchphrase in all five Die Hard films but the first instalment is the only one in which it's said twice.

Z is for... Zulus. The background tribal sounds just before the battle in Germania at the start of Gladiator were lifted straight from 1964 Michael Caine classic Zulu.

and... Zombieland. Woody Harrelson (Tallahassee) was arrested for marijuana possession during filming of the comedy horror, which delayed shooting for a day.

MONTY PANESAR

Vs the Nuts Question Bucket!

The England cricketer smashes our legendary question bucket – quite literally!

THE RULES

are simple. We fill our bucket with ridiculous questions, then a famous type picks them out at random and has to answer them!

Hi Monty! You have big hands. Can you juggle?

Yes. I'm a good juggler.

You bowl with your left arm. If you bowl with your right arm, do you throw like a girl?

I'd struggle if I was right-handed. I wouldn't land it on the same square. There'd be a lot of sixes.

Would cricket be even more exciting if they replaced the ball with a really big beef tomato?

Ha! It'd be easier to get the batsman out. Maybe a lychee would be a more appropriate fruit to use.

Australia really were throwing everything at him

Are England going to win the Ashes this year?

I think we've got a good chance. I'm hungry to get into the squad. I'd love to be a big part of it.

Is Kevin Pietersen as moody as he seems?

No. He's a good bloke. He's a really funny guy. He makes me laugh and I think he enjoys my banter as well.

Who's the biggest joker on the England team?

We've got so many. We all have a really good laugh together. I'm no stranger to putting hair mousse in someone's shoes, but I'll probably get into big trouble for saying that.

How come you get Wags in football but not cricket?

That's because it's a gentleman's game.

If you've had a big breakfast, do you ever say, "I'm a full Monty"?

[Sighs] Oh dear. When I've got a full stomach, I am the full Monty, yes.

As you're left-handed, does that mean you don't have to bother doing any training with your right?

No. You train your right arm to make your left arm stronger.

You're a Luton Town fan. Do you ever wish you were a professional footballer?

I am a professional footballer. I train with Luton and Arsenal and I play cricket for England. I dive all the time in cricket. I'm like the Didier Drogba of the game.

You once had a flavour of Walkers crisps. Did you get a lifetime supply?

I used to have a garage full. People really enjoyed the flavour – chilli and lime. Walkers kept on telling me I was their number one seller, and at one point I was beating cheese and onion. I used to look at those blue bags in Tesco and think, "Ha-ha! My flavour's better than yours."

Should more comedians play cricket to up the standard of sledging?

I don't know. I do have a desire to go into acting so maybe one day I can act in Hollywood. I'd like to be in a thriller like Denzel Washington, The Fast And The Furious like Vin Diesel, or play Bond like Daniel Craig.

Could they make a really sexy thriller about cricket?

No. Cricket just doesn't have that appeal.

Why don't you celebrate more like footballers every time you hit a six?

It's not in the spirit of the game to do that.

What's the secret to great facial hair?

Keeping it shampooed. So, Head & Shoulders, if you're reading this, you must look after me now. Ha-ha!

Who is your favourite Monty – Python or Burns?

Colin Montgomery.

Is that a cricket box in your trousers or are you just pleased to see us?

Get out of it, you cheeky monkey.

If you had a free pass to wallop anyone you like with your cricket bat, who would you chose?
Who would I choose to whack? That's a tough one! Maybe David Cameron because he keeps increasing taxes.

Once a week, bucket paid good money for this

Would you let Australia win if they promise to stop making Neighbours?
They can continue to make Neighbours. I used to watch it all the time.

“No one is harder than a

BOPE soldier”

Elite soldier by day, UFC fighter by night. Welcome to the incredible world of Brazil's Paulo Thiago!

H I Paulo. We know you as a UFC legend, but you're also a member of Brazil's elite military police force. How did you get into that?

I originally worked in my mum's bakery while I was studying a police military course. I qualified and worked as a normal policeman for ten months, then I got an opportunity to apply to enter the BOPE [Special Police Operations Battalion] course. It's a course so hard that very few men pass. In my year, 70 men entered the course and only 11 stayed until the end to qualify. It's extremely physical and exhausting, but I got in straight away.

Can you describe a day in the life of a BOPE soldier to us?

We're an army so we don't patrol the streets or favelas – we stay in our quarters. The normal police do that, and they call us when there are problems that are too dangerous for them to handle. They might not be sufficiently armed and prepared for a particular situation, but the BOPE always is. We're much more equipped for danger. That's why no day is the same – it depends on what calls we get.

What's the most dangerous situation you've found yourself in?

Every day's dangerous if we get a call out, because we can't predict what we'll find at the scene. There was an armed assault in a pharmacy, so we had the place surrounded by armed BOPE soldiers ready to go in, until we found out there was a hostage inside. It got very difficult as the attacker was high on drugs – he was a junkie. But luckily, the hostage was recovered unhurt, and only the attacker died with a single gunshot.

What weapons do you carry?

We each carry a submachine gun or an assault rifle.

What sort of weapons do the gangs you're up against carry?

The gangs have all sorts of weapons as they're mostly smuggled into them. Some of their guns are like ours, but most aren't as good.

So how did you manage to go from the BOPE to the UFC?

In the BOPE, everyone has a martial arts background and we train a lot in our quarters. I've been fighting ever since I was five years old. I started jiu-jitsu when I was 14 and then boxing

Paulo has won 14 of his 19 MMA fights

Paulo in his day job as a BOPE soldier

when I was 16. Then, when I had my first MMA fight, I won and enjoyed it, so I carried on from there. I finally got the opportunity to fight in the UFC in 2009 in London against Josh Koscheck. I was the winner of that fight, even though Koscheck had been the favourite.

How does your law enforcement training help with the pressures of UFC fighting?

I think that the psychological strength I have because of my job helps me to control myself emotionally when it's time to fight.

You must encounter a great deal of pressure in all areas of your life. So, how do you relax?

I do shift work at the quarters, so we work 24 hours on the trot, then have 72 hours off work. For the 24 hours I'm in the quarters, if we don't get called out for a job, I'm training. Otherwise I train in the 72 hours I'm not working.

So you don't actually do anything to relax outside of work and training?

The rest of my time I spend with my girlfriend and our two sons. I also enjoy cycling, swimming, football and things like that. Sports, mainly.

We've seen the movie Elite Squad – is it a true-life representation of what it's like to be in the BOPE?

The film showed more or less the routine of the BOPE. I mean, the part where they showed the policemen wanting to go into the BOPE but the training they went through to get in wasn't half as physically challenging as it really is. In reality, it's a lot more intense and severe. The BOPE's the last course within the police you can take. No one's harder than the BOPE soldier.

If you had to choose between being a BOPE soldier and a UFC fighter, which job would you prefer?

I love being a BOPE soldier but I love the training and fighting in the UFC too. I love both my jobs and want to carry on with them both for as long as I can.

Your next fight is with Michel Richard dos Prazeres. What can you tell us about him?

I know he's also a policeman in Brazil – he works in the Para district. He's very strong and has a good UFC track record too. It'll be a good fight, I think.

Thanks for speaking to us, Paulo! Finally then, despite both your jobs being so intense, how are you never scared?

Everyone gets scared, I think. I always have the fear that I'll be in an even more complicated situation with my work in the BOPE, or a dangerous one that I've never been in before. And I have the fear before any UFC fight. But it just means I have to be alert every time we get called out. We can't let fear dominate us. I feel what everyone feels, but I've trained myself to control it. ✕

● Paulo Thiago vs Michel Richard dos Prazeres is on 18 May, ESPN/HD, 2am.

Inside the BOPE!

- BOPE is an elite unit of over 400 urban warfare officers within Rio de Janeiro's military police force.
- According to BOPE's official recruitment page, would-be members must "have the spirit of a warrior: courage, emotional balance, and willpower".
- The skull on BOPE's symbol stands for "victory over death" and is inspired by the allied squads who liberated concentration camps during the Second World War.
- The unit assists in the policing of Rio's favelas – some 960 slums housing over 1.5 million people.
- Critically acclaimed 2007 flick Elite Squad was based entirely on the work of BOPE members.

Rosie & Rhian Uncensored!

Your favourite girls next door in their rudest-ever shoot!

Rosie Jones

H I Rosie! We'll have a chat with you first. How are you?
I'm great, thank you. I've been enjoying the sunshine. It's good to be able to give the boobs a good outing!

And it's quite an outing they're getting today! How are you enjoying the saucy shoot?
It's a bit rude. Me and Rhian keep touching each other's boobies. It's hardly a chore!

What's the rudest thing you've seen on telly recently?
I haven't seen anything that rude. I hear that Downton Abbey is surprisingly raunchy. The American shows are pretty rude. True Blood – I think there's loads of vampire sex in that. Give that a go.

Would you ever make a rude movie of your own?
Yes, I would, but it can be for my eyes only. I'm not going to make a Kim Kardashian sex tape for all the world to see. It should be a private thing.

If you could do a sex scene with anyone in the world, who would it be?
Maybe Jake Gyllenhaal. He's so hot. He looked amazing in End Of Watch. That was also a pretty good film.

When was the last time you were uncensored?
I'm always uncensored! I love skinny dipping when I go on holiday. Me and Emma Glover were in Ibiza and we saw how nice the sea was and said, "Come on, let's go!"

We may need to see pictorial evidence! Do you ever flash people when you're in your car?
No way! I might dare someone else to do it, but if anyone asked me they'd get a slap. Maybe I should get a car full of Nuts ladies together and go on a rude road trip. ▶

"There's no such thing as too
rude!" Rosie

Last year, you fronted our Fifty Shades Of Grey shoot. Has it made you extra kinky since?

I loved that shoot. I did enjoy some of the kinky stuff, but I don't own any of it personally, and some of it was a bit too wild for my taste. I think a light spank is enough!

What's this year's mucky book of choice for the ladies?

There are so many, all copying Fifty Shades, but I doubt any of them will be as good as that. If someone wants to recommend one for me, I'm all ears.

What one thing could all blokes do to improve their performance in the bedroom?

Spend more time on foreplay. Girls don't like to just get straight into the jiggy-wiggy!

Have you ever seen anything that you've thought's too rude?

Come on, Nuts – there's no such thing as too rude!

Who's rudier, boys or girls?

I think most people would say boys. But they haven't met my friends. We're always exchanging rude stories.

We assume you all have pillow fights in your pants and play rude drinking games...

Like strip poker? Nothing like that, but we do play a game called "Have You Ever" One person says, "Have you ever..." and then asks a rude question. If you've done what the question asks, you drink. It's a quick way to get drunk!

Who's the rudest Nuts girl?

Sophie Howard's full of dirty stories, and she does rude interviews, which I love.

Have you bought any sexy new outfits for summer?

I bought a few cool new bikinis, and I also bought a ton of new sexy underwear.

Who was the last Nuts girl you saw in the buff?

I'm with Emma and India all the time, and they love getting their kit off! ▶

ROSIE AND RHIAN

Would you ever introduce toys or accessories into the bedroom department?

Possibly, but I went to Amsterdam recently and I looked in some of the sex shop windows and the things they had on show frightened me!

Do you know any sex facts?

I read somewhere that statistically British girls have the biggest boobs in the world!

We'll vouch for that! On a scale of one to ten – ten being ruddy rude – how rude are you?

Because of my job, people probably think I'm a ten, but in reality I'm probably a seven.

What's the rudest thing you've ever done?

Probably the skinny dipping in Ibiza I mentioned earlier.

What kind of stuff would we find if we went rooting in your underwear drawer?

Too much underwear. There are probably things buried in those drawers that I have no idea about!

One of our Ten Rude Questions is: "Is it better to give or receive?" What's your verdict?

It depends on my mood, but I do like to be dominant.

How often do you pop down to your local Ann Summers?

I buy a few bits a month. I go in there just to see my friends on all the posters.

Do high heels make you feel sexier? We've tried them, but they're just not working for us!

Ha-ha! It does if you only wear them for a short time. It's not quite so sexy when you've fallen over a dozen times.

Is it true that girls also watch rude films?

Yes, absolutely! They're not just for boys, you know.

Thanks, Rosie! Finally, have you ever had sex on the beach?

I have sex on the beach all the time. Ha-ha! I'm talking about the cocktail, not the act. ►

"I like to be dominant in bed!" Rosie

"Arabella Drummond is amazingly hot!" Rhian

Rhian Sugden

H | Rhian! How are you enjoying this sexy shoot?
I love it. It's a lot of fun shooting with Rosie.

Do you have any sexy facts?

When you have sex your body releases a kind of painkiller.

How can blokes improve their performance in the bedroom?

Pay attention to a girl's needs. Maybe she won't tell you what she wants, but there are other ways of finding out!

Would you ever introduce any rude toys into the equation?

Does lube count? If so, I'd recommend using it.

Rosie mentioned that she was a seven on the 1-10 scale of rudeness. How about you?

On a good day, I can be an 11!

Are girls ruder than boys?

Definitely. The difference is boys are more open about it.

If we looked in your undie drawer, what would we find?

You don't want to know. I have secrets that should stay secret.

Do you own raunchy outfits?

My sexiest outfit is no outfit at all! I've just bought a new house, so I'm looking forward to rolling on the floor naked.

Awesome! Who was the last Nuts girl you saw in the buff?

Rosie Jones. Arabella Drummond is the raunchiest. That girl is amazingly hot!

Rosie confessed to skinny dipping. Is that your cup of tea?

I've been tempted, but I've never actually done it.

Thanks, Rhian! Finally, would you ever visit a nudist beach?

I'd love to go to one just to get a good look at what's going on around me!

We're still on the fence about the new show from the True Blood chap, but the premise - ex-con masquerading as a town sheriff - has legs, especially as the cop (Antony Starr) could settle a "coffee or tea with his doughnut" dilemma with his fists. But the real star is psycho "businessman" Ulrich Thomsen, stealing every scene he's in.

YOU MAY think Deal or No Deal is a game for people who believe in "systems". But take it from us – the multi-line slot game certainly isn't!

You can win big from the comfort of your own home for as little as 5p, and if you play on all 20 pay lines, you could win a big progressive jackpot. At the time of writing, this was £463,096 and could be more by the time you read this, unless a lucky winner has won it! So visit nutsgames.co.uk and start playing now!

How to play

- The aim is to get winning symbol combinations of the reels, with the ultimate target being the progressive jackpot.
- Select up to 20p on each of the 20 pay lines. That gives you up to 20 chances to win on each play!
- The progressive jackpot can only be won on the Deal or No Deal bonus game, but there are also two other fun bonus games called Banker's Offer and Mystery Box Bonus, where you can also win extra cash!

Number lines

Click the number beside the reels, or the "Bet One" or "Bet Max" button. Choose Bet Max for the chance to play the bonus game and win big!

10 RUDE QUESTIONS!

And a real girl to answer them!

Emma-May

22, Bristol

1 Where's the strangest place you've had sex?

"This is a very weird one, but it was in a field of corn maize! There was a night-time party being held nearby, so me and the guy I was seeing decided to take full advantage of the secluded field. The thought of getting caught while we were doing it was a real turn-on for me. Well, both of us, really!"

2 What's your trademark move in the bedroom?

"It always involves a sexy lap dance and a slow strip first – in private, of course! I just love being a bit of a tease, and I love seeing how turned-on I can make the guy while I work my magic. It really brings out my naughty side."

3 What really turns you on?

"When the sex happens spontaneously. I love it when you're in a random place, or driving somewhere in the car, and you both get so horny it goes way beyond just wanting each other. You get that feeling that you need to do it there and then."

4 What's your favourite position?

"It has to be doggy style. I love it when a guy's a bit rough and pulls my hair and slaps my bum while we do it. Ha-ha! I'm only little, so it's easy for a guy to throw me about a bit – but that's my personal preference."

5 Is it better to give or receive?

"It's always better to give, I think. I'm very good at pleasuring others, and I've never had any complaints. I keep things interesting by experimenting a lot. I love doing things with my lips and tongue and trying different types of lube."

6 What one thing would you really like to try but haven't yet?

"One day, I'd love to have an orgy. I'd have to be the centre of attention. It's something I think I'd enjoy, but haven't had the guts to try. Yet!"

7 Have you ever got it on with another girl?

"Yes. I've always thought girls look so much better naked than guys do. After a recent night out with a hot blonde friend, we crashed at her place and she kissed me hard on the lips. One thing led to another, and let's just say that I'll never forget that night, or her amazing boobs. Wow!"

8 What's your favourite sexy outfit?

"I have a French maid's outfit with suspenders and heels. To make it even more realistic, I can speak French, which helps get things going. When I wear it I feel so sexy. I like to strip seductively, while telling the guy what I'm going to do to him!"

9 Have you ever made a sex tape?

"Yes. Knowing we were being filmed was such a turn-on. It's fun to watch the tape back!"

10 What's the rudest thing you've ever done?

"I turned up at a boy's house naked except for a coat and heels to cover my modesty!"

CONFESSION OF THE WEEK!

'Knockout at the boxing club'

MY FRIEND and I recently joined a boxing club and got very friendly with one of the instructors. He told us he was competing in a boxing competition so we went along to watch. We were delighted to see him half-naked – it made us both very horny. After the first heat, the three of us went back to my flat and got him to recreate some moves for us. Then we stripped him naked and took it in turns to give him a blow job. We almost spent an hour down there, licking, touching and sucking him. He can't wait for the next round!

Em Kent

'Our sex in the shower'

ME AND my best mate were going on holiday, so I'd travelled up to her house to stay with her the night before our flight. We decided to drink lots of wine and exchange rude stories, when I ended up admitting how hot it would be to have a girl-on-girl encounter. Before

I knew it, we were both pretty much naked in her bathroom. She turned the shower on and said she'd always wanted to have sex in the shower with another girl. She massaged my breasts with soap and made me tingle with desire. The feeling of her hands on my wet body made me so horny and when she went down on me I came within minutes. Since then, our friendship has become even more special!

Hannah via email

'He poured bubbly on me'

I WENT to stay with my family in the States recently and spent a weekend at their summer house. I met a hot American guy, and one afternoon he invited me onto his dad's boat. Before long, I was sunbathing topless on the deck when he appeared with a bottle of bubbly, sporting a cheeky grin. He poured the champagne over my breasts and licked it off – sucking and biting on my nipples as he did so. Peeling off my bikini bottoms, he settled down between my legs. As I lay there naked, he moved his fingers in and out of me and licked my clitoris at the same time. I had the best holiday of my life and I've booked to go back in August to see my hot fling!

Lulu via email

'I gave him car surprise'

I RECENTLY joined a dating site and met a cute guy online. After chatting for a few weeks, he called to arrange a date. Just speaking to him on the phone really turned me on as he had a really sexy Yorkshire accent, and I tried to imagine what he'd look like in the flesh. He didn't disappoint and dinner went well. As he dropped me home, I offered him a kiss for taking me out, and we were soon passionately snogging in his car. I didn't want to invite him in on the first date but I couldn't tear myself away from him. I released his erection from his pants, worked him with my fingers as he kissed my neck. I then gave him a blow job right outside my house! I can't wait for our next hot date and hope he returns the favour.

Lampard: 'We badly want the Europa League!'

Lamps on silverware, squad rotation and bagging 200 Chelsea goals!

➔ Hi Frank! Is reaching the final of the Europa League consolation for Chelsea's disappointing early exit from the Champions League?

Some people degrade this competition, but you have to show respect and be professional. There's a major trophy up for grabs so we've approached it the right way. Even when we've been up against it, we've dug deep and found that extra level of performance. We want to win the Europa League badly. We need silverware – a club of this stature must always think that way and you can feel it among the lads that the excitement's growing.

It's been a controversial season for Chelsea. How do you see it panning out?

Hopefully with winning a trophy. There have been one or two things to contend with but our dressing room remains as committed and driven as ever. This is a club that thrives on pressure. Of course we'd rather be challenging for the title, but Champions League qualification is incredibly important. The experience we have in tight situations will help us try to get over the line and do well in the Europa League final.

There are echoes of last season, when a troubled campaign ended with Chelsea winning the Champions League.

Football's funny that way. People were saying the season was a disaster and it ended up being the most momentous in our history. Hopefully, we can end on a similar high. No one will give it to us though – as individuals and a team we'll have to fight all the way. I say it a lot, but the attitude of the lads counts for everything. We've had setbacks – it's how you respond to those that matters, and I honestly believe we have the mentality to achieve our goals.

Have you found it difficult being in and out of the team this season?

Rotation's part of modern football. Everyone knows I want to play every game, but sometimes it's just not possible. I'd still like to think I've made a contribution when I've played.

Reaching 200 goals for the club is an incredible achievement.

When you signed 12 years ago, did you expect to make such a mark on Chelsea's history in your career?

Not at all. I've been lucky to have the happy knack of scoring goals throughout my career and it's something I'm proud of – not necessarily because of personal glory or anything, more because it means the team has largely been doing well. Maybe when I finish I'll look back and think, "Yeah, I did all right there," but I'm not there yet!

What about your future?

I've thought about my future, obviously, but I'm not looking beyond the end of the season. I've got plenty on my plate between now and then.

But with a World Cup on the horizon, you'll want to be playing a decent level of football next season, surely?

Whatever decision I make, I'll look at all the ramifications. I'll do what's best for me and my career. The World Cup's a consideration but so are a lot of things. I'll make a call at the end of the season.

Is Chelsea in your blood?

It's my club and always will be. I can't say more than that.

Is there too much focus on your age?

It's about performance, not age, not reputation. Irrespective of how old you are, you should be judged on your performances. You can't go on forever, that's obvious, so you just have to be honest with yourself. Fortunately, at the moment I know I can still contribute at a high level. Where that takes me, let's wait and see.

● The Europa League Final between Chelsea and Benfica is on 15 May at 7.45pm on ITV/HD.

Benfica facts...

Inside track on the Blues' opponents!

- They've won the Portuguese domestic league 32 times and the Portuguese equivalent of the FA Cup 24 times.
- They appeared in four European Cup finals in five years in the '60s, winning two.
- Their fifth European Cup final of the '60s, in 1968, saw Man United storm past them in extra-time, turning a 1-1 draw into a 4-1 win.
- You won't see a number 29 in the Benfica squad – the shirt was retired after Hungarian striker Miklos Feher died of a cardiac arrest during a 2004 league game.
- Serbian midfielder Nemanja Matic has been linked with Man United. He was also a makeweight in the deal that took David Luiz to Chelsea, having made just three appearances for the Blues.
- Star striker Oscar has 24 goals in 36 appearances for Benfica this season, at the time of writing.
- Benfica appeared in the Guinness World Records in 2006 as the most widely supported football club, with 160,398 paid-up members.

Fergie in numbers!

Stats to sum up the Scot shouter's Old Trafford reign!

➔ AND SO it is that Sir Alex Ferguson has announced his imminent retirement, which we think we're probably right in saying is one of the harbingers of the apocalypse. But what a legacy he leaves behind, not to mention – as these bonkers numerical facts prove – all manner of records, stats and general Man United madness!

19

Man United's position in the old First Division when Alex Ferguson replaced Ron Atkinson as manager in November 1986.

10 The number of red cards that Roy Keane accumulated while playing for Fergie at United, in 12 seasons as his midfield enforcer.

24

The number of managers Real Madrid have gone through in the same period that Sir Alex Ferguson has been United boss, an average of a new manager every one year and two months.

79 The average time, in seconds, Man United are given longer to play if they're losing – the phenomenon popularly known by football wags as "Fergie time".

31m

The price, in pounds, United paid Spurs for Dimitar Berbatov in 2008, a club record. That 31 million bought 57 goals over his four seasons at Old Trafford, at a cost of £544,000 per goal. He was moved on to Fulham at a loss of about £26m.

1.2m

The price, in pounds, United paid Leeds for Eric Cantona in 1992, just over 1/26th of the cost of Berbatov.

104

Number of players Fergie bought in his time at Old Trafford. The first was defender Viv Anderson, the last Wilfried Zaha.

10 The difference in number of Premier League titles won between Ferguson (13), and the second most successful manager of the Prem era, Arsene Wenger (three).

16

The number of Premier League games more Ferguson's successor David Moyes has lost as a manager to date than Ferguson, Moyes having lost 130 games to Fergie's 114 – despite Moyes being in charge for 382 games fewer than Sir Alex.

17

The number of games Fergie has missed due to touchline bans for bad behaviour.

5.5

The percentage United's share price dropped on the New York Stock Exchange when Ferguson announced his retirement.

Fergie frankness!

The great man's notable quotes!

On Manchester City...

"They're a small club, with a small mentality. All they can talk about is Manchester United – that's all they've done and they can't get away from it."

On kicking a boot into Becks' face...

"It was a freakish incident. If I tried it 100 or a million times it couldn't happen again. If I could, I would have carried on playing!"

On Gary Neville...

"If he was an inch taller he'd be the best centre-half in Britain. His father's 6ft 2in – I'd check the milkman."

On media criticism of Juan Sebastian Veron...

"On you go. I'm no fking talking to you. He's a fking great player. Youse are fking idiots."

On Real Madrid...

"Do you think I would get into a contract with that mob? Jesus Christ, no chance. I wouldn't sell them a virus."

On Italian teams...

"When an Italian tells me it's pasta on the plate, I check under the sauce to make sure."

On ending Liverpool's dominance...

"My greatest challenge is not what's happening at the moment, my greatest challenge was knocking Liverpool right off their fking perch. And you can print that."

On United winning their 20th league title...

"Look at me – it's taken ten years off me today. It's these tablets, they're great!"

KAMMY!

He's the voice of the fans – and he's only in Nuts!

"It's amazing what you can pick up at a car boot sale!"

Fergie – one-man phenomenon... and pianist!

I'm glad I can pay tribute to a legend while he's around to read it!

➔ I NEVER expected Sir Alex Ferguson to retire – I felt sure that, having won back the title, he'd want to go on and keep it. But I think he just wants to do other things. He has a full life of football, personal appearances, his racehorses, and I hear he's learning to play the piano!

His achievements are apparent for all to see, but it's the person he is that elevates him to greatness.

When I became a manager, I could call Sir Alex and ask him for advice. Normally, you'd get his secretary, who'd tell you that he was busy, and you'd think, "Oh well, it was worth a try." But he'd always call back. That's what's made him unique – he still had time for other people.

He's a one-man phenomenon. It's great that we can deliver our tributes while he's around, because a lot of people thought he'd go on until he dropped! He's a true living legend.

"No, I'm more Glaswegian than you!"

Moyes has known for five years!

ABOUT FIVE years ago, amid speculation that Sir Alex was thinking about calling it a day, I was doing Goals On Sunday and David Moyes was the main guest. The Sunday newspapers were full of "Moyes to Manchester" stories, but before the show he said, "Kammy, do you mind if we don't talk about that?" I said, "Why, is there some mileage in it?" He just gave me a wry smile that told me there was.

It's a marriage made in heaven. I don't feel that Sir Alex could talk to someone like Jose Mourinho, who'd want to rebuild the team in his own image. But having Sir Alex upstairs won't hinder David. He'll ensure continuity.

KAMMY'S UNBELIEVABLE-OMETER™

UNBELIEVABLY GOOD!

ALEX APPLAUSE!

The goodwill that has been shown to Sir Alex since his announcement. I think everyone who played under him, hairdryer treatment and all, has good memories of him.

UNBELIEVABLY BAD!

TRIGGER HAPPY!

There's a trend of clubs like Blackburn and Wolves applying the revolving door method to the employment of managers. That approach can't work.

THE BIG MATCH!

"Hey, fellas, forget the ball - look up there! We're on the big screen!"

Wayne could be on his way!

THE NEWS that Wayne Rooney has put in for a move doesn't surprise me. The fact is, Sir Alex had made it clear that he was no longer first choice - the day that he was left out of the starting line-up for the Real Madrid game was the beginning of the end. Your best players want to play against the best teams in the world.

I think Sir Alex may have told Wayne that the door's open to him - David Moyes obviously nurtured Wayne but they had a huge fall-out and ended up in court. I know Paris Saint-Germain have been mentioned, but I'm not convinced they're a huge club. They're big, but not one of the best in the world - you don't leave Manchester United to go to Paris Saint-Germain, with all due respect to the French side. You go to Barcelona or Real Madrid.

"Wah! The big boys won't let me win!"

Chelsea vs Benfica

15 MAY, 7.45PM • ITV/HD

I was in no doubt that Chelsea would get through to the Europa League final against Basle, but Benfica are a different kettle of fish, with players who can cause problems. I think Rafa Benitez will underline what a good job he's done at Chelsea.

PREDICTION: 2-0

Key man

Fernando Torres keeps showing snippets of his quality. He needs to be that fella at Liverpool who won games on his own.

ASK KAMMY!

Who would have been your Player Of The Year?

RICHIE via Twitter

Well, I'd just about vote for Swansea striker Michu, even though he's tailed off at the end of the season. Pound for pound, he's been amazing.

Are Bayern Munich about to become the new dominant force in European football?

GERT via Twitter

The only question is: where do they go from here? They're potentially going to do the Treble. They've got to sustain that and that won't be easy for incoming boss Pep Guardiola.
